Neighbourhood team news

We have adopted the new beat team structure, aligned to the new council wards.

The wards of Knowle and Filwood have been combined into one neighbourhood beat, and for policing purposes this will form part of the Bristol South Central neighbourhood policing area with the Hartcliffe ward.

Combining the two areas of highest demand has meant that I can place an additional sergeant into the team. The South central team therefore looks like this;

Sgts	Beat managers	PCSOs
	Jon Nash	Liam Perkins
Alecto Shyne	Andrew Gilbert	Simon Rudge
	Richard Scotter	Sam Delahay
	Neal Scarborough	Gary Mason (mid-Oct)
David Deakin		Katie Allwood-Coppin
	Richard Jeffrey	Claire Flower
	Patrick Powell	Matt Cockle
Dan Ashfield	Jerry Hilliar	Michelle Hibberd
	Jayne Cranmer	Alison Orton
	Helen Head	Cameron Armstrong
		Wendy Reeves
		Tatiana Jones

Neal Scarborough has moved from the Brislington beat to Knowle / Filwood on an initial six-month swap. Katie Allwood-Coppin has likewise moved, but on a permanent basis. PCSO Gary Mason joins the team in mid-October, upon completion of his initial training.

The next stage of development for neighbourhood policing is to introduce an early intervention team for the Hartcliffe / Filwood / Knowle area. This team will see dedicated PCSOs working in daily contact with primary schools, BCC Housing officers and BCC Early Help team staff amongst many others. They will work predominantly with children, victims and offenders in order to provide appropriate interventions at the earliest appropriate time. Their aim is to extend the think family approach, strengthen community cohesion and build excellent links between the voluntary and statutory sector. I am hopeful that the first officers should be in place by early November.
