

Cultural Investment Programme 2023 – 27
Making arts and culture accessible for all

What is Bristol City Council's Cultural Investment Programme?

The Cultural Investment Programme is the way in which Bristol City Council distributes public money to support arts and culture. The programme consists of three funds: Originators (1 year), Imagination (2 years) and Openness (4 years).

All three funds have a vision of making arts and culture accessible for all citizens.

To help us achieve this vision we have three aims for the Cultural Investment Programme 2023-27:

- 1 To advance diversity, equity and inclusion in arts and culture for all Bristol's citizens
- 2 To support Bristol as a city of ideas, creativity and engagement
- 3 Invest in people, places and partnerships to respond creatively to need and support social change

Alongside these aims we have a guiding principle across all funds to help Bristol address the threat of the global climate and ecological emergency.

If your project or organisation can contribute to our aims and help us meet our vision please keep reading!

Foreword

Bristol's artists and cultural organisations have a local and global reputation for creativity and imagination. Our culture and creativity is a huge part of what makes this city so unique.

The Covid-19 pandemic has had a huge impact on the cultural sector and created uncertainty for organisations, artists, audiences and communities alike. In this context it is more important than ever that we continue to support the city's cultural organisations, festivals and events, artists and the citizens they work with across the city.

We are therefore delighted to be offering a second round of the city's Cultural Investment Programme.

Over the next four years the city will be navigating and responding to the complex social and economic impact of the pandemic. Building equity and inclusivity, growing a green and sustainable cultural economy, and supporting the health and wellbeing for Bristol citizens will all be priorities.

Bristol's festivals, events, artists and cultural organisations, and the Bristol citizens they work with need to be at the heart of the recovery and change the city needs now. Whilst arts and culture cannot be asked to solve everything, we know that Bristol's artists and cultural organisations are visionary thinkers and creative innovators, often driven by a strong social conscience and drive for social good.

Through the Cultural Investment Programme we look forward to investing in the city's rich cultural life over the next four years, and ensuring everyone can benefit and be a part of this.

Marvin Rees Mayor of Bristol

In the last round of the Cultural Investment Programme more than 114 grants were distributed to Bristol-based organisations, groups and artists. The grants supported arts and cultural activity, events and opportunities that reached citizens across the city, including people living in 15 of Bristol's 27 priority areas. The quotes and pictures included in this Overview give a flavour of the energy and impact this investment has had.

The impact of the Covid-19 pandemic on the culture sector over the last few years has been enormous and complex. It has been awe-inspiring to see how Bristol's arts and cultural sector and creative industries have constantly adapted, responded and even grown, in some cases, despite the complex challenges.

This new round of the Cultural Investment Programme enables us to continue to support the sector and the city's recovery. We will achieve this by being an inclusive, adaptive and collaborative funder, investing public money wisely and fairly.

We have wide-ranging ambitions to work with the city's artists, cultural organisations, and communities to collectively make positive change and impact, particularly around inclusion and the challenges of the climate emergency.

We look forward to your ideas, and to working alongside grantees to ensure arts and culture is truly accessible for all.

Introduction

Hello! Thank you for taking the time to read our Cultural Investment Programme 2023-27 Overview.

We are Bristol City Council, the local authority of Bristol, England. We invest public money in people and organisations across the city.

This document is designed to help you understand more about the Cultural Investment Programme and what we will be looking to support.

We have used our learning from the last round of the Cultural Investment Programme, and feedback from Bristol's cultural sector (gathered through surveys, meetings and focus groups) to inform and improve how we distribute funding over the next four years.

What is the Cultural Investment Programme?

The Cultural Investment Programme is the way in which Bristol City Council distributes public money to support arts and culture.

Through the Cultural Investment Programme 2023 – 27 we will provide grants for Bristol-based organisations and individuals to deliver arts and culture activities, events or festivals. We will offer both project specific grants and unrestricted funding.

Our vision is to make arts and culture accessible for all citizens.

We know that culture means many different things to different people. When we use the word culture we are referring to creative culture such as music, art, history, heritage, and events where Bristol's diverse citizens can share, celebrate or learn.

By accessible, we mean we want everyone to be able to experience and/or participate in arts and culture. We also want to make it as easy as we can for everyone, whatever their access needs, to apply for funding.

The Cultural Investment Programme vision and aims relate directly to Bristol City Council's priorities and plans for the city of Bristol and its citizens for the next four years, particularly for actively improving inclusivity and growing a green and sustainable cultural economy.

These wider plans and priorities are explained in more detail in three important strategy documents for the city:

- Bristol Council's Corporate Strategy \(2022 – 27\)
- Bristol's One City Plan \(to 2050\)
- Bristol's Cultural Strategy

We do not expect all grant seekers to read and absorb these strategies. However if you are seeking funding for 2 – 4 years it will be helpful for you to check these to see the bigger picture within which our motivations and priorities as a funder sit.

Cultural Investment Programme 2023-27 Structure

Vision, Aims, Objectives

Our vision is to make arts and culture accessible to all. Our aims are the changes we want to achieve to make that vision a reality. All three aims are of equal importance for the Cultural Investment Programme. These have been revised and refined for 2023 – 27 through consultation with Bristol's arts and culture sector.

Aim 1: To advance diversity, equity and inclusion in arts and culture for all Bristol's citizens

We will achieve this aim by supporting:

- Organisations and enterprises that are led by or creatively benefit individuals and groups with protected characteristics.
- Projects and activities that are delivered by, for and with communities in Bristol City Council's priority areas.

Aim 2: To support Bristol as a city of ideas, creativity and engagement

We will achieve this aim by supporting artists, creative practitioners and organisations to:

- Create innovative, accessible work and test out different ways to engage Bristol's citizens.
- Work together, share knowledge, resources and create opportunities for collaboration.

Aim 3: Invest in people, places and partnerships to respond creatively to need and support social change

We will achieve this aim by supporting artists, creative practitioners and organisations that use arts and culture to:

- Create community-led events and activities that bring people together to build positive relationships.
- Help improve the health and wellbeing of people of all ages and backgrounds.

Alongside our aims and objectives, for the Cultural Investment Programme 2023 – 27 we have a guiding principle across all funds to help Bristol address the threat of the global climate and ecological emergency.

All Cultural Investment Programme grantees will demonstrate a commitment to raising awareness of the climate and ecological emergencies, and reducing/mitigating the environmental impact of their activities.

Our motivations as a funder

Our aspiration is to be an inclusive, adaptive and collaborative funder. This is particularly important in the context of the challenges and priorities of our time; for a city emerging socially and economically from the impact of a pandemic, and at the same time needing to urgently address the threat of the global climate and ecological emergency.

We want to ensure that we are investing public money wisely and fairly on behalf of our citizens in the city's arts and culture, by monitoring and measuring impact.

Arts Council England has established a clear Impact Framework for its Let's Create strategy. We are using this model to help monitor the impact of the Cultural Investment Programme over the next four years.

We will commission an independent researcher/evaluator to work with a small number of grantees supported through our Imagination and Openness Funds, to evaluate impact as a result of the funding.

We are committed to being transparent and accountable. We have published all our grants made since 2018 on the council's website. For 2023-27 we will produce Cultural Investment Programme reports annually.

Cultural Investment Programme funds

The Cultural Investment Programme 2023-27 consists of three funds: Originators (1 year), Imagination (2 years) and Openness (4 years). This structure is designed to be a ladder into funding, with the potential for grant seekers to grow and apply for wider support from the council and other grant makers as they develop.

The total Cultural Investment Programme 2023 – 27 grant budget is £2,442,240. This will be broadly allocated as follows:

acta - awarded an Openness grant in 2018

acta is a community theatre based in Bedminster. They encourage communities to share their stories, make original and remarkable work, and engage audiences who rarely attend theatre.

'The investment from the Cultural Investment Programme 2018-22 enabled us to deliver our intercultural and intergenerational participatory work across the City, both at our base in Bedminster, and with people in their own communities in St Pauls, Lockleaze and beyond. acta has become a real home for isolated people, especially through the Covid-19 pandemic. We engage people without privilege, and create a place where everyone's story matters.' Helen Tomlin, Finance & Evaluation Director

They also run Mayfest, Bristol's biennial international festival of contemporary theatre that promotes the creative vitality of Bristol and explores the parameters of the city as a creative playground.

"MAYK emerged from Bristol's fertile and thriving independent performance scene, and we're proud to be based here. Our Openness grant supports our work here in Bristol, from producing artists projects to our biennial festival Mayfest – shining a light nationally and internationally on the ridiculous talent of the artists making work in the city – and it's a badge we wear with pride." Case Study 1

Paraorchestra – awarded an Imagination grant in 2020

Paraorchestra is the world's only large-scale virtuoso ensemble of professional disabled and non-disabled musicians. Their mission is to redefine what an orchestra can be.

“Our Imagination grant has been a vital investment in Paraorchestra’s growth as a Bristol organisation and as a Bristol employer. It has enabled us to create artistic work showcasing exceptional musicianship that embeds disabled artists and creatives at the heart of the process. It has helped us shape events presented in a range of space and places across the city - not just in the city centre alongside, but out into the suburbs of Knowle West - presenting international quality work directly to audiences local to this area. The grant has also given us the capacity to re-think our working practice, developing new avenues of support and development for disabled musicians that have fallen through the gaps of mainstream assistance.” Jonathan Harper, Chief Executive

Many Minds, I've Been Waiting, © Jack Offord

Case Study 2

Many Minds – awarded an Imagination grant in 2020

Many Minds facilitate creative spaces and create performances with people that experience mental ill-health. Their performances and open-access workshops put people who identify with experiences of mental ill-health in the driver's seat, as a way to break down stigma and trigger generosity and equality.

“Our Imagination grant has given us the capacity to become more strategic and sustainable in the long term. We have seen the demand for our activity grow significantly since the pandemic and have been able to react flexibly to the needs of our members and audiences and create more opportunities for people with experiences of mental illness to have meaningful access to the arts. Over the past two years, we have developed partnerships and collaborations with venues, organisations and artists that have enhanced the quality of our artistic work and led to us working towards making a show for the main stage of the Bristol Old Vic.” Olivia Ware, Executive Director

© Graft

Case Study 1

Graft – awarded an Originators grant in 2019

Graft is a husband and wife team of mural painters, Rob and Sophie Wheeler. In 2019, Graft were awarded an Originators grant to create a mural for a community mural project in Sea Mills. They wanted to celebrate the centenary of the Sea Mills ‘garden suburb’ and the unique history, heritage, flora and fauna of the area. The Originators funding enabled Graft to run a series of community workshops, as well as online engagement, which informed the design for a Sea Mills community pattern. They then secured permission to paint this pattern as a mural at Sea Mills Railway Station and created a mini exhibition in the Sea Mills phone box museum.

‘It has been a wonderful project to run, especially as it gave people an opportunity post-lockdown to come together, have some fun while learning new skills, and celebrate their local area.’ Sophie Wheeler

Case Study 2

Create as a Community: Colston Road, Easton – awarded an Originators grant in 2021

Over the last few years, local residents who live on Colston Road, Easton have been campaigning for the street to be renamed. Play:Disrupt, in collaboration with local artists and the League of Creative Interventionists (LOCI), are undertaking a community consultation, engaging local residents with the opportunity to creatively respond to the existing ‘Colston Road’ name and co-create something that is meaningful, thought-provoking and visual. The resulting work and the conversation will aim to encapsulate the residents’ diversity of thoughts and opinions, allowing for everyone’s voice to be heard.

“It’s been a wonderful process to be part of, bringing new voices to the table, visualising hyper local responses to an international conversation. The project has kick started an avid collection of historic research, fond memories of the street along with really constructive talks, new relationships and so many amazing ideas.” Malcolm Hamilton, Creative Director

Our decision making process

There are several stages to our decision making process.

Stage 1 – Assessment

Applications will be assessed by members of Bristol City Council's Arts and Events team and sometimes trained freelance assessors. Applications are assessed using a clear scoring system outlined in the Guidance Documents for each fund. Answers will be given a score between 0-3, based on how well the question has been answered. The scores are added together to give a total score. For larger grants we also share and discuss applications with Council officers who have relevant expertise in Community Engagement, Equalities, Legal and Finance.

Stage 2 – Balancing the investment

A decision making panel will review and discuss the highest scoring applications. The panel members will vary depending on the fund. The panel includes members of the Arts and Events team and other council officers with relevant expertise in the areas of Community Engagement, Equalities, Legal and Business/Finance. We may also invite other people with relevant expertise to take part.

The panel will consider the highest scoring applications in relation to our balancing criteria. We do this in order to consider the spread of investment that we want to make. Our intention is that new grantees for each fund will be as representative as possible in terms of diversity, range of art forms, geographical location and the communities they serve.

We will consider applications against the following balancing criteria:

- Geographical location (with a particular focus on Bristol City Council's priority areas)
- Range of art forms (visual art, music, dance, theatre, festivals etc.)
- Opportunities for people from groups with protected characteristics

For the Originators Fund final decisions are made at Stage 2.

Stage 3 – Cabinet

For Imagination and Openness, recommendations made by the panel at Stage 2 are presented to a cross-party group of Councillors. These recommendations are then also taken to the Council's Cabinet for a final Cabinet decision at the next available meeting. Cabinet members are Councillors with special responsibilities over an area of the council's activities, such as, culture, neighbourhoods or transport. The Cabinet decides the Council's key policies.

Glossary

Extra information and useful links

Accessible

Arts and culture being 'accessible to all' means that people are not excluded, as an artist, creative practitioner, participant, or audience member, because of their protected characteristics (including disability, sex, and race) or socio-economic background.

Aim

Our aims describe the changes we want to achieve.

Bristol City Council

Bristol City Council is the local authority of Bristol, England. The council is a unitary authority, and is unusual in the United Kingdom in that its executive function is controlled by a directly elected mayor of Bristol. Bristol has 35 wards, electing a total of 70 councillors.

Co-creation

Co-creation means creating together. It is a co-operative process in which people with different experiences; skills and knowledge come together and work in non-hierarchical ways to address a common idea or issue.

Community

People living in the same place or having a particular characteristic, interest or experience in common.

Community-led

People from a community coming together to address local need and/or achieve common goals or activities.

Culture

We know that culture means many different things to different people. When we use the word culture we are referring to creative culture such as music, art, history, heritage, and events where Bristol's diverse citizens can share, celebrate or learn.

Deprivation

Deprivation is the extent to which a person or a community lacks what they really need to have a good quality of life. Access to work, money, housing and services can affect a person or community's level of deprivation.

Diversity

'Diversity' is defined broadly to include various elements of human difference. We want to support arts and culture that removes barriers and increases access for individuals and communities that have been historically marginalised or underrepresented.

This is particularly for people with protected characteristics as detailed in the Equalities Act 2010.

Equity

The term 'equity' refers to fairness and justice and is distinguished from equality. Whereas equality means providing the same to all, equity means recognizing that we do not all start from the same place and must acknowledge and make adjustments to imbalances.

Grantees

A 'grantee' is a person or organisation that receives funding as a grant.

Grant seeker

A person or organisation who applies for funding from the Cultural Investment Programme.

Inclusion

The practice or policy of providing equal access to opportunities and resources for people who might otherwise be excluded or marginalised, such as people with protected characteristics.

Not-for-profit organisation

Organisations or businesses that are operated for a public or social benefit rather than to make a profit for the owners, directors or members.

Project specific grants

This means funds received as a grant that are only to be used for a specific project or defined set of activities. This is also known as restricted funding.

Protected characteristics

Protected characteristics as detailed in the Equalities Act 2010 are: Age; disability; gender reassignment; marriage and civil partnership; pregnancy and maternity; race; religion or belief; sex; sexual orientation.

At Bristol City Council we also consider socio-economic inequality to be a protected characteristic, as well as sources of inequality that are not specifically covered by the Equality Act such as people in care, refugees and migrants and people with caring responsibilities.

Find out more in: Bristol City Council's Equality and Inclusion Policy & Strategy 2018-2023..

Priority areas

Bristol continues to have deprivation 'hot spots' and Bristol City Council has identified 27 areas that experience multiple deprivations. These are priority areas for funding from the Cultural Investment Programme 2023-27 and are shown in red on the map on page 4 of this document.

Objectives

Our objectives describe how we are going to achieve our aims.

Social change

Changes to a society's culture, institutions and behaviours.

Unrestricted funding

'Unrestricted funding' describes a grant / funding that an organisation can use in any way that they believe is appropriate to help them achieve their mission or aims.

Vision

Our vision describes the long-term change and impact that we want the Cultural Investment Programme 2023-27 to have.

Wider council strategies relating to the Cultural Investment Programme

Corporate Strategy 2022 – 27

This is the council's main strategic document for the next five years. It informs everything the council does, how we plan for the future, and sets out our priorities and contributions to the One City Plan.

One City Plan

The One City Plan takes the long view for the city and looks forward to 2050. It sets out a shared vision and goals for Bristol which have been agreed with many different partners including education, health, environment and communities.

Bristol Cultural Strategy

This strategy was written in 2017 and looks at the role that culture can play in Bristol. It recognises the valuable contribution culture already makes to the city but also the potential for wider engagement.
