

Response to Petition Debate - Loss of Confidence in Bristol's Planning System

Bristol City Council as an LPA is independent of the administration, and we are not responsible for its decision making.

As directly elected mayor I am not a spectator in the development of the city. My office and I work hard to push the planning applications which come forward to match our aims and aspirations for the city.

There is no evidence to suggest the planning service at Bristol City Council is anything but impartial.